WEDDING.

Upton-Ruppelicht.

John Upton, who is employed at Cheeseboro's garage, and Miss Ida Ruppelicht of Guilfordville were united in marriage at the parsonage of the Mansfield Center Congregational church, Wednesday at 6.30 o'clock.
Rev. Walter E. Langbehn performed the ceremony.

After the installation ceremony there were stirring addresses by a number of the national officers of the organization. An informal musical programme was also rendered, that was greatly appreciated by those present. The evening concluded with a social hour and refreshments were served.

William B. Elliott to Try Farming in Columbia.
William B. Elliott, who has conducted a business place on Main street for a number of years, is contemplating embarking in another line of business. Too close confinement seems to have impaired his health, and he believes that a change of environment would do him good.

Mr. Elliott is said to be already negotiating for Calvin C. Brown's farm in Columbia, and will thereon set up an up to date chicken farm.

Another Change of Business.
It is rumored that John Shea, who has conducted a barber shop in the city for past four years in the Opera house block, is about to give up that business and seek another means of obtaining a livelihood.

Condition Favorable.
Miss Eva Trudeau, who was operated upon at St. Joseph's hospital on Wednesday for appendicitis, is doing well and the report is that she will speedily recover. She passed through the operation very successfully. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A.
Trudeau of High street.

Jewish Play Attracts Large Audience —Decision for Defendant in Suit of Herman vs. Chapman.

Wednesday evening a company of Jewish actors from New York presented the play "The Jew" in Colchester, and the company was augmented by a number of local actors. The play was the first time that a Jewish play has been put on here. After the play there was dancing, under the direction of Professor Lazmusk.

The trustees of the Cragin library held a meeting in the library building Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Suit Over Timber.

The case of Jacob Herman and wife vs. Y. F. Lucius C. Brown Wednesday afternoon. Lawyer Himm of Willimantic appeared for the plaintiff and Charles F. Brown for the defendant.
The case is about some timber which Chapman had cut on Herman's land and he had cut it Herman thought he had sold too cheap and wanted more.
He also claimed that Chapman had knocked his wife down and struck her over the heart with a canthook. Justice Brown decided for the defendant, as the plaintiff could prove nothing.

William Carter of Boston was in town Thursday.

John K. Kinnear, Joseph Wameter of Middletown, guests of relatives in town.

Thomas P. Kinnear was the guest of friends in New Haven Tuesday.

Charles T. Williams and Harry Elser are in Norwich this week as elders.

Sheriff Wikle returned to Hartford Wednesday morning, having come here to attend to the installation of the officers of the K. of P.

On account of the bad weather the Village club did not hold their meeting in the library Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Christopher News of Lancaster, Pa., guest of friends in town.

Poles for the electric lights have been distributed along Mill street and Lebanon street. The poles are being set ready for the crossarms. It is expected that they will all be set by the last of the week.

Colonel Gordon is tall, slender, 75 years old and loose jointed, and is famous down his way as a planter, hunter, soldier and a cavalry veteran.

"They tell me," he says, "that I look like Abraham Lincoln from the rear." And from the rear he does, but there is nothing of the severe melancholy in his eyes, and his eyes are twinkling when his lips aren't smiling.

A group of newspaper men went to the home of the old planter to see the new senator, having heard somewhere or other that he was a little bit different from other folk.

"My appointment," said Colonel Gordon, "why, sir, they just forced it on me. I was down at home when I got a wire from my friend Governor Noel asking me to come to Jackson.
I took the train and went to the governor's office. He told me what he wanted and made out the papers, and here they are."

"Will you be a candidate for election before the legislature?" somebody asked.

"No, sir," he said. "I am not going to come up here and I am not going to ask to stay here. I don't know what the legislature of Mississippi is going to do. I hear a talk of a deadlock. If they do deadlock and don't they can not do better than let me stay here. I will stay. If they don't let me stay back home and be happy and I was before Gov. Noel appointed me."

"Then somebody asked the colonel his age."

"Seventy-six, sir," he replied, "but at a boy. I haven't been sick, sir, in 61 years. I was down with malarial fever at the time of the big overflow from paddling around in the waters saying my niggers and stock."

"Wealth, sir?" I was a millionaire and a half at one time. What in the land and money. The last of it, I recall, except $450, went through some securities I had to pay. Then I had to go back to labor again, and I have been happy ever since."

"Well," the colonel remarked a newspaper person, "you certainly are well preserved."

"I am preserved, sir, well preserved," cried the colonel, with every appearance of indignation, "my wife, sir, says I am pretty."

After the newspaper men had heard the colonel tell some of his war stories and no thrills were written ran came up to him—they scattered, one of them lingering behind to ask for a future endorsement for a talk with the colonel.

"All right," said the new senator,
"you can come around almost any time.
What did you say my name was?"
"It will give you my card," said the newspaper man.

"Thanks," said the colonel, "I'll remember you. Look here, I like you I want you to show me something.
Maybe you can help me."

The newspaper man professed his willingness.

"All right, then," said Col. Gordon, writing, "you can come around tomorrow, have a good dinner, and before I want you to read it and know it."

STAFFORD SPRINGS

Crystall Lake Company to Dissolve Corporation—Additional Night Officer—Fire at Fregeau Home.

The stockholders of the Crystall Lake company have voted to dissolve the corporation. This company was organized in the fall of 1908 for the purpose of doing a mail order business in wares.

The police committee of the borough is to confer with the selectmen in reference to putting an extra night officer on duty. An effort will be made to have the town pay a portion of the expense.

Miss Mona Adams expects to sail from New York today (Friday) on the Savannah line for Florida. Where she will spend the winter. She will be accompanied by friends from Bonds-ville, Mass.

The burgesses have granted permission to W. E. Benton to locate a lunch cart on the Rockwell lot.

Bishop Brewster's Visitation.

Bishop Brewster of Hartford will administer confirmation to a large class at Grace church Sunday morning at 10.45.

Arthur J. Melbourne has been elected king in the society of the Knights of King Arthur, in place of Robinson Masson who resigned. Stevenson Mason will be the new sentinel.

Fire at Joseph Fregeau's.

The fire company was called to the home of Joseph Fregeau on Willington avenue about 6.30 Wednesday night.
The portion of the building near the kitchen, was ablaze. There was no hydrant near the property, and the hose had to be hauled to the hydrant at the top of the hill. The distance was so great that the pressure was low and it took considerable time to get the water under control. At one time it looked as if the whole house would go. The firemen worked with determination and it took an hour to head off the flames.

The upper story was pretty well burned, and the damage to the rest of the property is mostly from smoke and water. Most of the furniture, including the piano, was removed from the house.
The loss on the house and furniture is partly covered by insurance. Mr. Fregeau has moved his goods into the tenement recently vacated by Robert Bulkeley in the Rockwell block, where he will reside for a short time.

The slippery streets were responsible for many falls Thursday morning.

James Higham's Majority Celebrated by Friends—Twelve Inch Ice Supply.

James Higham entertained a large number of friends on his 51st birthday. A pleasant evening was enjoyed, with local and instrumental music. Mr. Higham has a fine and handsome gold watch from his parents and an expensive signet ring from his friends.

William Cullen is ill at his home in Rockville.

The Academy of the Holy Family opened Wednesday for the winter term.
Rev. J. W. Hoer, who has been ill the past two weeks, is improving.

George Reeves, who has been ill, is able to be about.

Alby Cullen has his ice house filled with 12 inch ice.

There are three cases of mumps on High street, all children.

The Bridge at New London.

It has for some time been known that the necessity of its growing traffic required the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad to build a new bridge across the Thames river in New London. There have been all sorts of rumors as to what the railroad would do, among them the building of a new bridge, the widening of the center of the city where it is much wider than at the present bridge, and thus straighten the river to that point.
Along with this arose the hardly more probable dream of New London taking the old bridge and its value for the valuable ferry franchise.

Exact statement of what the plans for the new bridge are is lacking, but it is understood that the railroad purposes to build a roller lift draw bridge, and knocking the stuffing out of the valuable ferry franchise.

The passing of the old bridge has a sentimental interest for many New Haveners. From the time when a generation of supporters of Yale has seen the oarsmen of the Blue seize victory or trail off defeat. That spot a little to the north of the bridge—about where, in fact, the new one may be located—is a historic spot of fate. The change which is planned on the Thames will necessitate moving all the stakes of the great race course, from Gates Ferry down—New Haven Register.

To Be Tested.

The Union is not in favor of much of our present excise legislation. We are opposed to a law that allows swell clubs to sell booze on Sunday while closing the poor man's saloon. If one is closed, all saloons are closed. That is merely fair play all around. Anything else, no matter what you call it, or under what guise, it masquerades is in the nature of immunity and special privilege to certain of our citizens, and it causes class feeling and disrespect for the law.

Mayor Rice was quite gratuitous in his assumption that our police, fire and education boards are honeycombed with politics. That as it may be. We are glad to inform the mayor that politics has been played anywhere in the administration of our city government. It has been in the enforcement of our laws, or our excise laws.

We allude to no particular administration, republican or democratic, in this connection. We merely state a fact of many years' standing and express the hope that Mayor Rice will put an end to the excise laws being in effect or misused as a valuable political club and asset. If he does so, we shall not fail to praise him. If he fails to do so, he must expect our frankest criticism.

We carry a full line of Excise and this excise matter and definitely state his policy. But, as in Mayor Gaylor's case, a few weeks will tell just where our mayor stands on this important matter.—New Haven Union.

Tolland.—The thermometer dropped 22 degrees from 10 o'clock Monday evening to 7 o'clock Tuesday morning, registering at that time 3 below zero on Tolland street.
